

Spring Term Class Descriptions

with Dr. David Schultz: The world & in America asks what life seemed inevitable. This task examines the state & nature of democracy across without a democracy.
with Dr. Caleb Goltz: In this session, we'll explore the American political process, its roots, and its evolution. We'll explore the American political process, its roots, and its evolution.
with Dr. David Williard: In this session, we'll explore the American political process, its roots, and its evolution.
May 6: Environmental History with Dr. William Cavert: Historians are always developing new ways to understand the story of humanity, & Environmental History is one of the discipline's most ground-breaking contributions. These lectures provide an introduction to this new field, explaining how attention to nature helps us understand people better.
Tuesday, April 1-15: Immigrants & the Making & Remaking of Minnesota's Working Class with Dr. Peter Rachleff: nursing homes of the Metro area, immigrant workers have been central to Minnesota's economy & especially to the development of our state's labor movement. We'll explore how they drew on their collective values & organized to make their lives – & the lives of all of Minnesota's working people – better.
with Dr. Paul Lorah: In this session, we'll explore the American political process, its roots, and its evolution.
Wednesday, April 2-16: Women & God-Talk: An Exploration with Dr. Susan Myers: The word "theology" derives from the Greek word theos, meaning "god," and logos, meaning "study" or "discourse." Theology has influenced the understandings of women in the three Abrahamic traditions of Judaism, Islam, and Christianity & Islam.
Wednesday, April 23-27: The Council of Nicaea with Dr. Mark DelCogliano: The year 325 marks the 1700th anniversary of the Council of Nicaea. The first of the seven ecumenical councils, it was convened by Emperor Constantine I to address the Arian controversy. We'll explore the events that led to the council, what happened & its abiding centrality for most Christian churches today.
Wednesday, April 2-16: The Danube Basin and the Making of Modern Central Europe